Heaven's Cry was formed at the beginning of the 90's as a modern rock band with a progressive tanger. From the city of Montreal, Pierre St-Jean (vocals, guitars) and Sylvain Auclair (vocals, bass) decide to join their efforts, building a dual voice oriented band. Both had played clubs in several other bands before HC and had various experiences in songwriting. The time had come to get on track with a serious project that would reflect their aspirations in a proper way.

The band has been performing live for a while in front of considerable crowds, opening for bands like Marillion, Saga, Rick Emmet (Triumph). They recorded their first demo in 1993 and had an immediate response in Europe. The demo was named 3rd album of the year in the prestigious German magazine Heavy Oder Was. Olaf Quinzaños (guitars) joined a couple of months after and brought an original and inspired sound to the band.

In 1995, the band signed with a Canadian label (Hypnotic Records) and recorded their first album called Food for Thought Substitute in early 1996. The album was released in Japan the same year and in Europe and Canada the following year.

In 1997, most important European magazines finally got their hands on the album. Reviews were more than flattering for HC, voted album of the month in Germany, Italy, Holland, Czech Republic and many more.

After some changes in the band's line-up, René Lacharité (drums) and Eric Jarrin (guitars) joined the band in late 2000. With a new vital power growing in the band, HC focused its efforts on songwriting and getting ready to play live. The goal was clear, they had to get back in front of the public as soon as possible. A year and a half later, HC started to record their follow up album, Primal Power Addiction, with Olaf as artwork designer and Pierre signing the production and engineering. Having members of the band work closely on the project made sure that Heaven's Cry was presented accurately to a wider audience.

Primal Power Addiction was released in The Netherlands in October 2002 on the reputed Dutch label DVS Records. The feedback was enormous. The band crossed the sea to be part of the ProgPower Festival in The Netherlands followed by a tour supporting Threshold in Belgium, Germany and Denmark. The album has been released in many countries around the world.

The band is currently working on their 3rd album, and a demo of 3 new songs, Catalyze, Mislead and Compass has been released for promotional purposes.

The future will bring much more from Heaven's Cry, as they could not be more present with their lyrics and music, through these troubled times of change.

Compass

Lyrics and Music by Heaven's Cry

The ship is sailing freely,
and the oceans are maids.
We see the sky ahead painted in gray.
To seek a world of peace we have to struggle,
as we did when the flood took away our homeland.
But underwater, we might fail...

Why should we bail our lives?
Why being so unkind?

Longing to reach inner peace
and find a shelter, release the anchor
In this world where only power leads
And never be back again.

Heading forward, deeper
far abroad.
The prow looks so small,
the ship like a shard.
Surrounded by water, a wave is coming,
Oh, we might never breathe again!
Time to say goodbye to this damned refugee life forever.

Why should we bail our lives?
Why being so unkind?

Longing to reach inner peace
and find a shelter, release the anchor
In this world where only power leads
And never be back again on the sea...

Catalyze

Lyrics and Music by Heaven's Cry

Connect to me,
It's finally time for this.
Cure me.
Catalyze me, high!

Higher and higher...

Endlessly, you called us free
but you hide yourself.

You hide yourself
Don't hide yourself
Your higher self...

The face you show, the bows you howl
You take it to some afar.
Then you say that you're a warrior praised
and all you do is sit and wait!
You forgot that you're alive
dismissing all the mirrors cowering
out of your way.

Allow your mind to fly...

Loneliness.
To you, it's just the same.
Watching us, up above.
When earth's gone you're on your way
to the sky...
Sky...Why?
Hi I
High I,
I High.

Stand up!
And reveal yourself!

Higher and higher...

if you don't release these chains
We both won't see the rise of another way.

Mislead

Lyrics and Music by Heaven s Cry

I am a fine soul,
I'll take the most off the land.
Anybody else, I can't share
like anybody else,
the fruits of the day.

Hey!
Well, all things aside, my friend,
You'll have to abide to the owners of the land.

Gone, I stand aside in the outskirts of the land
They confiscated all my assets
And I still don't know if I'll survive in here.

Here, I used to be free of this hate residing in the heart of the land.

You have to defend your rights!

If we do nothing about it
The transition might take a day, a month, a year.

They'll possess everything and us,
Rule us, enslave us, leaving us all in the dark!
then we're just puppets my friend!

If we don't act now,
we're nothing but puppets my friend!

Fight!
Without blood, peacefully.
Shout!
Shout to the owners Them cursed
Shout your requests
Disobedience is our only way.

Well, all things aside my friend.
You'll think that's how it will be 'til the end.
